CURTAINS REDUCE HIGHER HEATING BILLS

Four out of ten people are worried they will not be able to afford their next energy bill, according to recent research published.

As prices have soared again this winter, some energy companies have offered customers some respite as they announced they were cutting gas bills by 5%. For some of their customers. However, the modest reduction does not compensate for the previous years 19% increases. Homeowners will continue to struggle with gas and electricity bills this winter, causing stress and worry for many families and vulnerable pensioners up and down the country.

Energy efficiency awareness is becoming a vital source of domestic cost saving, and for this reason energy conscious retailers like Paul Simon have addressed the matter head on as Managing Director Paul Ludwin explains:

"Few people realise that money is literally going out of the window through energy inefficiency at home", says Paul. "More than 20% of heat is lost through windows yet energy experts suggest that savings of up to 25% can be simply achieved with fully lined curtains. This is a point that our staff at Paul Simon try to emphasise to customers, that lined curtains hung at your windows really make a difference"

He adds: "These announcements regarding energy bills come at the very start of our massive Blue X Sale. This event is one of our biggest of the year when we offer an EXTRA 20% OFF already low sale prices on selected curtains, fabrics, nets, poles, blinds and also beds and sofas. In fact, during this event, we will be offering fully lined, energy saving curtains from as little as £11.99 a pair. In anyone's terms, that's a small price to pay for such large potential energy savings"

With over 49 stores nationwide, Paul Simon are one of the only home furnishing groups that specialise in curtains, along side beds and sofas across the UK. They have more than 200 stunning readymade curtains on display and thousands of luxurious made to measure fabrics to choose from. For more than two decades they have been renowned for excellent choice, quality, value and service, so with extra savings of 20% off sale prices, it is well worth investing a little energy in visiting the Blue X event at Paul Simon.

SPENDING CUTS WILL SAVE £1.8M

COUNCIL tax will be frozen for the third year running and popular services offloaded to voluntary sector groups under spending plans revealed by Harlow Council this week.

The Conservative administration published details of its 2012 budget proposals after announcing new operators have been found for five of the seven discretionary services it put out to tender last year.

Pets' Corner, Harlow Museum, Parn-don Wood Nature Reserve and the events and arts services will all be transferred to voluntary sector groups as the cash-strapped authority looks to plug a £1.8m shortfall in its finances without raising its share of council tax.

With Essex County Council, Essex Police and Essex Fire & Rescue Service all planning to follow suit, it means the average Band C taxpayer will continue to pay £1,366.08 a year.

The council plans to free up additional funds through a package of efficiency savings that includes a senior management restructure, a 1.33 per cent staff pay cut and a shake-up of the planning process.

Yet despite its financial woes, the authority also revealed plans to set aside £30,000 to put towards events marking the town's 65th birthday, the Queen's Jubilee and the Olympics Torch Relay, while a further £121,000 will be split equally between Harlow's 11 wards to be spent on "environmental improvements".

Council leader Andrew Johnson said the budget would help families hit by spiralling household costs.

"I'm pleased that once again we have frozen our share of council tax so residents won't have to pay more for Harlow Council services," he said.

>>FOCUS Council unveils its plans to save more than £400,000 over three years

D-Day for the future of popular services

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PLANS for the biggest shake-up of the town's discretionary services in decades are set to be rubber-stamped next week after Harlow Council announced new operators had been found for five of the seven put out to tender last year.

If approved by the cabinet on January 31, the cost-cutting proposals will see Harlow Museum, Parndon Wood Nature Reserve, Pets' Corner, the arts service and the events service (including the bandstand, showground and fireworks night) transferred to new providers from the voluntary sector, potentially saving the authority more than £400,000 over a three-year period.

But plans to offload Harlow Playhouse and the town's paddling pools before April 1 have been put on hold after the council failed to attract suitable bids for each service.

Both will now remain under the authority's control for another year as work to find interested parties continues, although it remains unclear what will happen if deals have not been struck by that point.

Joel Charles, portfolio holder for community and citizenship, said he was proud the council had found a way of keeping each service open despite "unprecedented financial pressures".

"What we are proposing is the best way to ensure the future of places like Pets' Corner and the museum," he said. "We are working with well-established organisations who we know will do a great job. These services are not simply being cut adrift."

"We are providing funding for the next three years to keep them running, but in a more cost-effective way which will save local

>>PETS' CORNER

- Harlow Education Consortium to take over from September
- Services to run along similar lines to now but with renewed emphasis on educational work alongside public access.
- Friends of Pets' Corner to work on new revenue-raising ideas
- All six members of staff to be transferred to HEC under TUPE arrangements
- Council to pay HEC £332,000 over the next three years. Cost under existing council ownership would have been £514,000

>>PARNDON WOOD

- Environmental Conservation Co-operative to run the service
- After first year, ECCO will explore the possibility of establishing a separate charity for the service
- No job losses: one part-time role will be funded by new operator
- Entry to Parndon Wood to remain "similar" to present
- Big Society Fund will pay £69,750 over three years. Cost under council ownership would be £99,000 people more than £400,000.

"The bottom line is that we are keeping all our popular services running at a time when councils up and down the country are having to make deep cuts. I think that says a huge amount about the enterprise of Harlow's community."

But Labour group leader Mark

Wilkinson was highly critical of the plans, claiming they did little to safeguard the long-term future of each service.

"It's all very well giving these organisations one-off lump sum payments to help keep these services afloat for a couple of years, but what happens when that money dries up?"

"The voluntary sector is already under tremendous financial pressure, and I'm worried they will struggle to cope with running these services three years down the line."

"If they can't afford to, it means that some of the town's most popular attractions could simply vanish."

>>MAJOR EVENTS

- Three-year deal with Great Parndon Community Association to be reviewed at the end of that period
- GPCA to organise return of Town Show and festivals to Town Park
- Council to offer officer time and support
- GPCA to receive £53,250 from Big Society Fund. Cost under council ownership would be £72,000

>>ARTS SERVICE

- Harlow Arts Trust to take over in three-year deal
- Gibberd Gallery to remain open but weekend access remains unclear
- Council to pay £45,000 from Big Society fund to cover the cost of one Arts Officer for the period. Current cost to council is £65,000

>>HARLOW MUSEUM

- Science Alive to take over from April 1 and undertake all outreach and interpretation work
- Council-owned collections to go on display at Leisurezone, with archives and records service to stay at existing premises in Mark Hall
- Building will be retained for community use, with Science Alive leading the creation of a Community Trust to help run it
- New operator will also encourage and facilitate access archive material which will continue to be stored there
- Four members of staff to be made redundant
- Science Alive will be paid £275,000 over three years by the council. Cost under existing council ownership would be around £430,000

Council cuts costs but there is still cash for 'three great' celebrations

COUNCIL tax will be frozen in Harlow for the third consecutive year if budget proposals are approved by cabinet members next week.

With a £1.8 million shortfall to meet in the next financial year, the council is instead seeking to make savings in its 2012 budget by offloading discretionary services and making its operations more cost-efficient.

The biggest reduction in costs – around £1m – will be found through a combination of cost-cutting measures to be implemented at the Civic Centre.

These include a restructure of senior management, the continuation of a 1.33 per cent pay cut for all council staff which saved almost £100,000 when introduced last year and reshaping the way the authority manages planning and public enquiries.

A further £756,000 will be saved with the proposed transfer of five council discretionary services – Pets' Corner, Harlow Museum, Parndon Wood Nature Reserve, the arts service and the town's events service – to local voluntary and charitable organisations.

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Council leader Andrew Johnson said: "At a time when household costs continue to go up, I'm pleased that once again we have frozen our share of council tax so residents won't have to pay more for council services."

"For the past seven years the council has made savings year-on-year and we have driven that process even harder this year."

In spite of tough economic constraints, the council has managed to set aside £30,000 to fund the town's "three great occasions" – its 65th birthday, the Queen's diamond jubilee and the Olympic torch relay.

An additional £11,000 will also be made available to every ward to spend on environmental improvements.

Cllr Johnson added: "While times are tough

I do think it's right to mark the fact this will be a very significant year for our town."

"Our fund will ensure the town looks its best help local people as they celebrate these three great occasions."

But Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson accused the Tory-run administration of not being honest with residents. "I am not in any way opposed to the council tax freeze but I do think the council needs to be honest with the residents of this town," he said.

"The reason they are able to maintain the freeze for a third consecutive year is because they have received a large Government grant. However, that will run out in the next two or three years and then we will be left with the biggest financial shortfall this town has seen in a long time."

"The Tories need to be honest about the fact that we are sitting on a ticking timebomb and be open with residents about what they propose to do exactly when that grant runs out."

Miliband: I know we can turn it around

LABOUR leader Ed Miliband accused the Government of being "out of touch" with the problems facing Harlow during a visit to the town on Friday.

Mr Miliband claimed spiralling youth unemployment, a shortage of social housing and swingeing voluntary sector funding cuts were putting

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

residents under "great pressure" and starving local youngsters of ambition and opportunity.

Speaking to the Star after joining Labour's prospective parliamentary candidate Suzy Stride for a question-and-answer session at Harlow College and meeting representatives from local voluntary groups at the Rainbow Centre in Wych Elm, Mr Miliband said the Government's economic plan was cutting too far and too fast.

"Of particular concern is youth unemployment," he said. "From the conversations I've had with students it's clear that people know this is a massive problem facing the town.

"There are a lot of young people here in Harlow who have been out of work for a long time. Rather than complacency from the Government we need to see action to tackle this problem.

"If Labour were in power we would be taxing the bankers' bonuses and using this money to help people back into work."

Asked about the effects of the cut-backs on charities and voluntary organisations, he accused the Government of viewing the voluntary sector as a soft touch.

"Sometimes the problem is that local authorities and others can think it won't make a difference if money is taken off the voluntary sector, but it does. It makes a huge difference to the fantastic work organisations like Rainbow Services do," he said.

"We would be cutting less far and less fast and that would make a real difference."

On housing, he criticised Whitehall for taking away local targets for the building of new homes.

"One of the things I think the Government made a mistake in doing was taking away the targets for local authorities in terms of building new homes.

"Of course local authorities have to have a say about where new homes go, but it's not right to say to them 'do what you like' when there's such a housing crisis in this country and indeed Harlow."

Asked whether he was confident Labour could build upon gains made in last year's local elections and wrestle back control of Harlow Council from the Conservatives this May, Mr Miliband said the party was working hard to regain voters' trust.

"We've lost trust here in Harlow and we've clearly got to do all we can to win it back," he said.

"But I'm confident we can turn it around. We want to make more gains at the local elections and we've got a fantastic new prospective parliamentary candidate in Suzy Stride.

"I think Suzy is a very worthwhile successor to Bill Rammell. She's someone who is really dynamic and really determined to fight for the people of Harlow."

Travellers move on after threat of legal action

TRAVELLERS who set up an illegal camp opposite a secondary school have been moved on by Harlow Council.

Around 10 cars and seven caravans rolled on to the parcel of land opposite St Mark's West Essex Catholic School last week but left less than 24 hours later after the authority threatened to take legal action.

Officers from the council's community safety team visited the site on Thursday afternoon accompanied by police after the group initially refused to co-operate with the authority's request to leave.

Council leader Andrew Johnson said: "Harlow Council has always had a positive working relationship with the traveller community on our two legal sites. "However, our policy on illegal camp is clear. The council has a duty to uphold the law and we will take legal action to clear the site if the travellers do not move on.

"Residents expect us to protect the town's green spaces, and that is what we will always do."

Brian gives chase to foil bronze thieves

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A HAVE-a-go-hero has been praised by council chiefs after he chased off thieves attempting to steal a valuable bronze statue.

Brian Baker (59) was at home in Sewell Harris Close, Harlow, on Thursday when his son Matty spotted two people trying to prise the Gerda Rubenstein sculpture from its plinth at the end of the street.

"It made me angry," Mr Baker told the Star. "These metal thieves are the scum of the earth as far as I'm concerned so I decided to go out and confront them."

By the time he left the house, Mr Baker – who works in the steel trade – the 3ft high sculpture had been removed from its plinth and was being pushed down the road by the two thieves in a neighbour's wheeley bin.

"I went after them and shouted 'Oi! Where do you think you're going with that?'," he said.

"They ignored me at first so I continued shouting for them to stop. Then suddenly they let go of the bin and said, 'Here, have it then' before running off."

The sculpture, called Julia and valued at more than £15,000, was handed to police who had been called to the scene by Mr Baker's neighbours.

"Julia has always been a nice addition to the street," said Mr Baker. "It's a shame to just see an empty stand there now but it's better than letting idiots like that sell her off for a quick hundred."

"As long as I thought I was safe I wouldn't hesitate to act again."

Joel Charles, the Harlow Council's portfolio holder for community and citizenship, thanked Mr Baker and his neighbours for thwarting the thieves.

"Our public sculpture collection is there for everyone to enjoy so it was great that the community fought back against a selfish attempt to deprive others of this particular piece," he said.

"In view of the spate of metal thefts up and down the country we are stepping up council ranger patrols around our sculpture sites and I would encourage local people to 'adopt' their neighbourhood sculpture."

"The more pairs of friendly eyes we have looking after our outstanding collection the harder we'll make it for thieves."

Anyone with information regarding the attempted theft should contact Harlow Police on 101.

Sophia Grace Brownlee (8), who made headlines at the end of last year when a YouTube video of her and her five-year-old cousin Rosie McClelland performing Nicki Minaj's Super Bass received over 20 million hits, was invited to the Houses of Parliament by Mr Halfon to celebrate her astonishing success.

Since Sophia's parents Dominic and Carly posted the clip of their daughter and niece online last October, she has been offered roles with Disney and Nickelodeon, appeared on chat shows across the globe and become a regular guest on the primetime Ellen DeGeneres Show in America.

Mr Halfon said Harlow was lucky to have Sophia as a representative.

"She is an amazing singing sensation," he said. "I wanted to invite Sophia and her family to the Commons to celebrate their success and also to meet Harlow's young celebrity!"

He added: "Who cares about Rihanna and Katy Perry when we have Sophia representing our town!"

Limitations on liability to creditors

IN this time of financial hardship many people are having to deal with debts and the creditors seeking to enforce them.

It is not unusual to receive contact from collection agencies seeking repayment of creditor debts, despite the fact that communication has long since ceased. However, the Statute of Limitations Act can provide some protection.

For most debts the Act says that if six years or more have elapsed since the original default on a debt and during that time you have not made payment or issued any communication in writing whereby you can be considered to have accepted liability, then the account should be statute barred.

This means that it is out of time for enforcement through the courts. For debts which are payable on demand - such as overdrafts - the six-year period will not commence until the demand has been issued.

If within six years you have made payment or issued a written communication in which you can be considered to have accepted liability, a new limitation period will commence. This means that you would have to go another six years from the date of that most recent communication before a debt could be considered out of time.

With regard to joint debts, if one party has entered into written communication whereby they acknowledge liability for a debt within six years, this will only restart the limitation period for them. However, if an actual payment is made by one, this will restart the period for both debtors.

Once a six-year period of no contact has elapsed the debt remains out of time for collection, even if payment or communication is entered into after this time. This is because the limitation period cannot be revived by any subsequent payment or acknowledgement.

If a creditor were to try and enforce an out of time debt by seeking a County Court Judgement and you were to receive court papers, you will have a defence to these proceedings and should seek advice immediately.

It is essential that court papers are not ignored if a County Court Judgement is to be avoided as the defence that the debt is out of time for collection through the courts must actually be made or judgement would likely be entered.

However, once you have raised this issue with the court, it is then for the creditor to prove that the debt remains within time. If you receive communication relating to a debt you believe could be statute barred, seek advice before contacting the creditor.

Teen convicted of rape horror given 10 years

A TEENAGER who carried out a prolonged sex attack on a 46-year-old woman in Harlow has been jailed for 10 years.

Jordan Duff, who lived in Harlow and was 17 at the time of the attack, was sentenced at Chelmsford Crown Court on Tuesday after being found guilty at an earlier hearing to four charges of rape.

Judge Charles Gratwicke told him: "There must be a substantial sentence."

Duff (18) had denied the charges but was convicted of raping the woman on May 9 last year in what his victim described as a "horrible, horrible, horrible" incident.

During the trial the jury was told Duff carried out the assaults only a few minutes after meeting the woman as they approached each other on the road.

Prosecutor Peter Clark said she had been on her way to visit her mother when she came across two young males in the Staple Tye area of town and accepted a can of beer from them.

By COURT REPORTER

They started chatting and were then joined by another woman. The court was told the two men and the woman then left but Duff doubled back on his own and insisted on walking with the victim, insisting that they take a short cut.

Mr Clark said that when she refused, Duff became aggressive and grabbed her by the arm, telling her: "You're coming this way."

He continued: "She stumbled and Duff dragged her into some bushes. Tugging her belt, he ripped her underwear and twice repeated his earlier threat [that he was going to have sex with her]."

"She told him to stop but he pulled down her trousers and committed the first offence."

Mr Clark said that during the prolonged attack Duff changed positions and then pulled his victim up, dragging her "like a lapdog" and forcing her against a metal signpost before committing the third rape.

Her ordeal only ended when a police traffic patrol passed and Duff fled.

In his defence, Duff claimed the woman had consented to sex and had "handed it to him on a plate".

Passing sentence, the judge told Duff: "You were convicted of four counts of rape during a sustained and vicious attack on a lady. Nobody who sat through that trial can feel anything but revulsion, horror and anger at the way you treated her."

"You violently used her to fulfill your sexual desires, ignoring her requests to stop, and left her naked and bruised on the ground. You also took her carrier bag and handbag."

New centre to help addicts on the road to recovery

A NEW treatment centre for people battling drink and drug addiction will open in Harlow tomorrow (Friday).

The centre, which is run by local charity Open Road from its new headquarters in Wych Elm, will offer structured day programmes and counselling for addicts struggling to get their lives back on track.

Charity chief executive Sarah Wright said that having a dedicated treatment centre would enable the group to offer help and support to more people.

"For over two years we have provided services to the local community from shared facilities and community centres," she said.

"To now have a dedicated centre will improve the quality and effectiveness of our treatment to the people of Harlow and hence help more people on the road to recovery."

She added: "We already have a really good network of contacts in local partner organisations who support our clients and their families in other ways, with housing, relationships, health, debt or other problems, which means our clients receive a really joined up service."

The centre will be officially opened by Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who is also a patron of the charity. Volunteers will be on hand throughout the day to welcome visitors and tell them about the services provided.

Harlow lab 'will keep Olympics drugs-free'

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertssexnews.co.uk

OLYMPIC Games drug cheats have been warned they will have "no place to hide" this summer after a state-of-the-art anti-doping laboratory was unveiled at the Harlow base of pharmaceuticals giant GlaxoSmithKline.

Hailed as the most high-tech lab in the history of the Games, the facility is the size of seven tennis courts and will be staffed around the clock by teams of scientists from King's College London.

They will analyse up to 400 samples each day – more than at any previous Olympics – with every medalist and more than half of all competitors set to be tested.

Sports minister Hugh Robertson, who officially opened the facility during a visit to the GSK's base in Pinnacles on Thursday, said the exhaustive testing process would ensure cheats were caught.

"We are doing all we can to ensure there is no place to hide for drug cheats at London 2012," he said. "Our message to any athlete thinking about doping is simple - we'll catch you."

"This lab is at the forefront of the fight against doping. It will be populated with scientists at the top of their field who will carry out an exhaustive testing process during the Games."

GSK has donated the lab and equipment to the project as part of its £20m contribution to the Olympics.

Chief executive Sir Andrew Witty said it would provide a lasting legacy for anti-doping operations at future Games.

"As a science-based organisation, GSK is well placed to help deliver the scale and cutting edge technology required to run an operation like the anti-doping facility for London 2012."

TESTING ZONE: Pictured in the anti-doping laboratory of GSK's New Frontiers Science Park complex at Pinnacles, Harlow, right, are Government Minister for Sport and the Olympics Hugh Robertson, London Organising Committee of the Olympic Games chief executive Paul Deighton, GSK chief executive Andrew Witty and Professor David Cowan from King's College London (S)

"We have worked with King's to put systems in place to enable this laboratory to test more samples than any previous Games and at the same time develop a blueprint for doping operations at future Games."

Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson told the Star he was proud the town would have such a major role in the running of the Games.

"The use of GSK's laboratory in Harlow as a centre for drug testing during the Olympics underlines the town's reputation as a centre for biotechnology and innovation," he said.

"With employers like GSK, a new university campus producing a highly skilled and flexible workforce and a freshly-designated Enterprise Zone set up to support innovation, enterprise and relationships between the private, higher education and public sectors, Harlow is perfectly placed to keep its lead at the cutting edge of health related industries," he said.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon added: "The GSK lab is quite a remarkable operation. It is a great example of a partnership between one of our most foremost academic institutions and a world-class company like GSK."

"Above all, it is incredible to have this laboratory in our town, something we should be very proud of."

Charity steps in to help homeless as temperatures drop

A CHARITY helping the homeless stepped in to provide emergency accommodation for seven people sleeping rough during the recent cold snap.

Streets2Homes, which is part-funded by Harlow Council, opened up the beds at its Wych Elm headquarters after temperatures plummeted to below zero last Friday.

Those taken in stayed until Monday and were given meals and advice on housing, benefits, training and employment.

Kerrie Eastman, centre manager for Streets2Homes, said: "We have a dedicated team made up of paid staff and volunteers from around Harlow who gave up their weekend to look after the homeless people. I really think that says a lot about Harlow's community spirit."

"It was a great team effort to help very vulnerable people."

The emergency service – paid for with a £4,400 grant from Harlow Council – is provided every time the temperature drops below freezing.

Clive Souter, the council's portfolio holder for housing, said: "Emergency accommodation during severe weather is a service the council opts to provide."

"Although we have a very small number of rough sleepers in Harlow, clearly we were glad to help during the bitter cold of the last few weeks."

"Streets2Homes do an outstanding job all year round and provide advice and support during the day to homeless people."

"The council can of course provide further help to anyone sleeping rough who may be eligible to join our housing register."

Drama group fears redundancy threat

FLASHBACK: Star, January 12

Theatre group thrilled by an act of generosity

THINGS are looking up for a struggling Harlow youth theatre group after it received a £2,000 cash boost from the Co-operative's Community Fund.

The future of the Livewire Trust, a free drama group supporting more than 600 young people from all walks of life, had looked bleak after Essex County Council cut its main source of funding and told one of its long-term support workers they faced being made redundant.

But the group, which meets regularly at Paringdon Junior School, has finally had some good news after being awarded the money it needs to run an Easter theatre challenge this year. Creative director Sam Ashford said the group was thrilled to receive the financial contribution.

"This grant will allow us to offer a special Easter event for our members," he explained. "It will offer 50 young people access to free workshops during the Easter school holidays in order to boost their confidence and encourage them to make new friends and build on their theatrical skills." Members of the trust are now working on a series of fundraising initiatives to help keep the theatre group going.

The first event – a new version of last year's summer showcase – takes place on Wednesday, February 15 in the Glass Box Theatre at Harlow College from 8pm.

Entrance is free, with a raffle and collection being held throughout the evening.

Funeral firm's gift to hospice

A FUNERAL firm with branches in Harlow, Sawbridgeworth and Epping made it a night to remember for a local hospice when they sent an 'angel' to present staff with a cheque for £22,000.

Daniel Robinson & Sons arranged for Radisson Blu Hotel's 'wine angels' to deliver the donation to representatives from St Clare Hospice in Hastingwood after raising the money at its hospice ball held at the Stansted hotel last year.

During the presentation evening the firm also handed another cheque for a similar amount to the Isabel Hospice in Welwyn Garden City.

Gary Neill, managing director of Daniel Robinson & Sons, said: "The generosity and support of local people and businesses in this time of austerity really goes to show how much they value the fantastic work of these hospices."

"Thank you to everyone who contributed."

Now is the time for volunteering

RESIDENTS young and old with a bit of free time on their hands are being urged to do something rewarding this year by taking up voluntary work.

Volunteer Centre Harlow has a number of positions across the town that need filling, ranging from organising fundraising initiatives to assisting at social clubs.

The group can also give advice on working holidays, conservation schemes and overseas projects for those keen to learn new skills, meet new people and put something back into the community.

For more information, contact Della Nash on (01279) 308 310 or email dellanash@volunteercentreharlow.org.uk.

Open Monday to Friday from 9.30am-12.30pm, the group also offers one-to-one counselling as well as support on complex issues such as debts, benefits, legal support and housing that have arisen as a result of domestic abuse.

New meeting place for adults facing the misery of isolation

PEOPLE who find themselves stuck at home are being encouraged to join a new social club in Harlow.

Hobbyfriends is the brainchild of Margaret Tuffen who wanted to start a place where isolated adults can meet new people, enjoy various activities and share problems.

Margaret, of Aylets Field, said: "When I lost my husband five years ago I was incredibly lonely and found community work a great way to take my mind of things whilst getting a bit of company."

"This new group aims to give adults somewhere to go for a couple of hours where they can make friends, learn a craft and just generally enjoy a change of scenery."

"We only started last week but as the group gets bigger we hope to arrange for specialist people to come in to teach new skills. And if anyone is in need of any help we will try and find the appropriate person for the problem."

She added: "This club really is open to everyone. I am disabled myself so people with a disability can be assured the centre has appropriate access. As I said, it is about providing a place that those who don't get out much can look forward to visiting every week."

Hobbyfriends meets at the Latton Bush Centre every Monday from 10am-noon. For more information, email smallgran@hotmail.com.

Our fears for life of baby son

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertssexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW father is planning a charity walk to raise awareness about a common yet largely unknown condition that left his newborn son seriously ill.

Tony Page (29), of Haydens Road, said that despite the fact one in three pregnant women carry the bacterial infection Group B Streptococcus – the most common cause of life-threatening infection in newborn babies in the UK – few have even heard of it.

The condition left Tony's son Ashton in intensive care for a week. It is normally harmless but can be passed on to newborn babies during childbirth with very serious consequences.

"One of the problems with GBS is the test for it is not available on the NHS," said Tony. "Unless a woman has problems during her pregnancy she usually won't be informed about it."

"Yet it is extremely common. We know a few couples whose children suffered with it, including one friend who lost her baby to the condition."

"Fortunately Ashton made a full recovery but it was a terrifying week for us. I wouldn't wish that on anyone."

Tony decided to organise the walk from Harlow to Hoddesdon, where he works as a school caretaker, after being frustrated at the lack of information on GBS when he visited a local antenatal clinic.

"My partner Eloise is now pregnant with our second child and we were both amazed to find no posters or leaflets warning about GBS," he said.

"It isn't hard or expensive to test for and once it's been detected it can be treated simply by giving the mother antibiotics as she goes into labour."

According to GBS charity Group B Strep Support which is campaigning for every low-risk pregnant woman to be offered the test, 700 babies a year will develop the infection in the UK, with around 75 cases ending in fatalities.

"Although it will be a sponsored event in aid of Group B Strep, I am mainly doing this to raise awareness," added Tony.

"Even if it only helps one other couple from going through what we did then I will have done a good thing."

Tony is holding the walk at the end of next month and has asked anyone wishing to make a donation to do so directly through the Group B Strep support website at www.gbss.org.uk.

Proud to have known such a caring and dedicated GP

SIR, I was so sad to read of the death of Dr Charles Taylor (Star, January 19).

When I moved to Harlow in 1951 at the age of 11 years, he was our family GP. We also lived in Felmongers and on occasions if one of my parents was ill, I would go and fetch Dr Taylor from his home and he was always willing to visit at any time day or night.

My most memorable experience was when our neighbour was due to give birth to twins. She went into labour in the middle of the night and with no midwife, no transport and the nearest hospital in Epping, I was sent to fetch Dr Taylor while my mum stayed with the neighbour. Although he was in bed he did not hesitate to come immediately and he and my mum assisted in the birth of beautiful twin boys.

Dr Taylor continued to be my GP until he retired – through my teenage years, marriage and three children, so he became their GP also.

We will always remember him as a dedicated and caring doctor, not just for medical matters but also as a counsellor and adviser. Our sincere condolences go to his family. They must have been very proud of him, as we were to have known him.

TUC right to demonstrate during Ed Miliband's visit

SIR, I want to congratulate the Harlow branch of the TUC for their spirited demonstration against Ed Miliband when he visited Harlow College on Friday. Good on them.

As a long-time Labour voter, I think they're absolutely right. Harlow Labour Party never wanted Ed as leader.

And if we are going to beat the Tories we need a proper local candidate with a decent

Why we think Pets' Corner must be free and open to all

SIR, We understand that Pets' Corner in Harlow Town Park is being handed over to a new owner but we don't think this will impact on Harlow very well.

We believe it will be visited less, especially if people have to pay to visit the animals. As there aren't many family friendly places for people to visit that are free in Harlow, families will be spending less time together.

Parents can't afford to pay to visit these places. What parents need is somewhere to take their children that won't cost them a lot of money. When parents expect a free day out with their kids at the Town Park they go to Pets' Corner as well, but in the future they won't.

We also fear that people will lose their jobs or people who are volunteering might not be able to do that any more. The new owner might prefer to keep people who they know well or might not want to pay people to work for them.

Pets' Corner won't feel like a community area, a place open to all people. There might be so many changes that it doesn't feel like people can visit whenever they like; they might feel as if they need permission and will be told when and if they can visit. As it is not run by Harlow Council, people might feel like it is less of a public place.

Children who don't have any pets might visit Pets' Corner so that it feels like they have a pet. They can feed them, pet them, talk to them and it will make them feel as if they aren't missing out. But now parents may have to pay for their children to visit so they won't feel as if they have a pet.

It is also an educational opportunity, allowing children to learn about farm animals which they would not have done at home or in school

We have thought of a few ideas which we believe would be a better way of paying for Pets' Corner, such as, monthly fetes, allowing people to sponsor or adopt the animals, selling beverages to customers or selling food for the animals so children can feed them.

Thank you for reading through our letter and taking our concerns into consideration.

Rail link cash should be spread across network

SIR, So the Government (meaning taxpayers) propose to spend £35bn on improving the journey time between two well known cities – London and Birmingham.

Meanwhile, Harlow commuters will pay nearly £4,000 for their annual season tickets for standing up on crowded trains. Apparently no local improvements can be expected until after 2026.

Let's hope that the objectors in Camden and Berkshire will derail this valueless vanity project and spread the available finances over improving the whole rail network.

Litter louts leaving their mark on the environment

SIR, It is very disappointing that so many local residents take no pride in their local environment.

I took this picture to show the litter in the hedgerows along the path between Kiln Lane and Church Langley Way. Maybe if the rubbish was collected and strewn throughout the homes of those responsible it may just make them stop and think.

Perhaps the council should consider the following:

- 1) The provision of rubbish bins around Church Langley.
- 2) Employing litter wardens with the powers of obtaining names and addresses (so culprits can be named and shamed) as well as receiving a £60 fine.
- 3) Organising monthly voluntary litter patrols by local residents who care about their surrounding environment.

Penny-pinching over missing manhole cover

SIR, Earlier this month I reported to Harlow Council a manhole cover was missing by a pavement in the area of Mallows Green. A few days later I found myself pulling an animal from the hole itself.

I reported the missing manhole cover again and was told to put something over the hole until they could get someone to look at it.

I tried to to explain the obvious danger of a child falling into it or someone at night having a horrendous accident through not seeing it, and was told it would not be replaced because of the current trend of metal theft but they would get someone to look at it and assess if there was any danger. This pathetic penny-pinching and constant failures of dealing effectively with health and safety issues highlights the truth that civil servants truly have no interest in the community at all.

No doubt if this manhole cover was missing from outside the Civic Centre or any councillor's home it would be replaced as a matter of urgency.

Sadly, it seems the hardworking taxpayers who earn a minimum wage do not count or even matter.

No Coachcard discount for airport journeys

SIR, I see from last week's Star that we can now buy National Express tickets at Harlow. May I point out to older people who have purchased a Coachcard from National Express that you will not be able to receive your discount if your coach route starts or ends at Stansted (or any other) Airport which is our major coach hub.

National Express issued the paid-for card as a replacement for the 50 per cent discount over 60s used to receive which was removed by the Coalition Government.

The Briers, Harlow

Why are we having to pay again for council houses?

SIR, At a recent tenants' forum it was clear the council is going to borrow £210m, to be repaid over the next 30 years, from the Government's bank to buy our council houses from the Government.

Harlow paid the Commission for the New Towns for our council houses in full many years ago. We have also paid the government over £300m in subsidy, so why are we having to pay again?

At the same time the Government is still keeping control of our council houses and dictating who should live in them, for how long and how much rent they have to pay. And it is still keeping the money from right to buy.

The question must be what are our councillors going to do about this and what are the chief executive officer and his directors doing to stop the Government exploiting Harlow residents for the third time?

Are residents going to have a say whether we are going to put our town into debt? After all, it is us and our children who will have to repay it.

Night we rescued
a frozen donkey

WERE you part of the Old Harlow 'Red Shed' retained firefighter crew when they won the station efficiency award for Essex in 1989?

This photo of the proud victors was passed to Nostalgia by Tony Constable, who is pictured at the front holding the group's winning trophy.

"We were certainly pretty proud of ourselves," said Tony. "It was a big deal. "The Chief Fire Officer used to go around each retained station in the county and give test scenarios to be completed in a certain amount of time. It could be anything from attending a house fire to dealing with a car crash and it turns out that that year we performed the best."

Now working as a service engineer for British Gas in Yorkshire, Tony, who was a retained firefighter in the town between 1984 and 1997, said he missed his time with the Old Harlow crew.

"It worked on a kind of voluntary basis where we would have to be ready to drop everything when our beepers went off, though we did get paid for the calls we attended.

"You also could only be in the retained firefighters if you lived within three minutes of the station to make sure response times were met.

"It was hard work and, of course, sometimes there were some horrible sights, but mainly we had a lot of fun. We were a really good team."

Tony recalls a few amusing scenarios during his 13 years with the crew but one in particular has always stuck in his mind.

"I'll always remember when we had to save a donkey from a frozen swimming pool," he said. "It was in the middle of winter on a farm near Little Hallingbury and this donkey had wandered onto the ice and fallen straight through.

"It was an absolutely freezing night and we all had to keep taking it in turns to try and harness the animal and drag it out. It didn't help that the farmer had decided to give the donkey a good swig of brandy to keep it warm!

"We eventually succeeded and needless to say the donkey was probably better off than we were by the end of the ordeal!"

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Playhouse Theate Van

What do you get if you put two ladders, some blankets, a steering wheel and a toy dog together?

We have no idea either but we are hoping at least one Nostalgia reader may be able to shed some light on this picture from the Museum of Harlow archives of the Playhouse's Theatre Van educational roadshow.

Local history officer David Devine dug out the snap following our recent coverage on another of the drama troupe's projects – the environmental roadshow.

He explained: "After reading the previous articles about the 'Load of Rubbish' roadshow I decided to do some research and finally found that the event was covered in the Star on August 21, 1980.

"It turns out the show was being run as part of the David Livingstone family fete raising money for the hostel.

"I then dug a bit further and found a few archived photos of Theatre Van performing other shows at various venues around the town.

"The one of the group posing in some kind of home-made vehicle is dated 1981 although I couldn't tell you what they are doing! Hopefully someone else will know."

Can you explain the latest Theatre Van mystery? Write to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Harlow firefighters have answered double their usual number of callouts so far this month during this week's Big Freeze because of flooding caused by burst pipes. Staff in the casualty department at Princess Alexandra Hospital have also been kept busy after a surge of patients injured in falls on the ice.

Harlow Council's work department has been given a pat on the back after coping with 3,000 emergency calls during the Big Freeze. A 24-hour service was provided by technical staff to cope with the 1,800 householders who needed immediate assistance.

A callous thief stole £10 from a pensioner's hospital bedside while he lay there undergoing treatment. The cash belonging to the 69-year-old man was taken from his wallet in a bedside cabinet on Willingale Ward at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

A prominent Harlow market trader is calling for rent-free days to be given to long-term stallholders. Florist Bernard Chapman, whose family have owned the flower stall for more than 30 years, is calling on the council to reward market stalwarts with rental discounts to help them continue trading.

MP invites pupils on tour of Houses of Parliament

FAWBERT & BARNARD'S

Pupils walked the corridors of power when they joined Harlow MP Robert Halfon at the Houses of Parliament. Members of the school council were invited up to London by Mr Halfon for a guided tour of the Houses of Commons and Lords during which they learned about the history of both buildings and how Parliament works.

They also got to try their hand at summoning MPs to the Lords in the role of Black Rod and casting their votes in the voting lobbies.

It is planned to follow up the trip by inviting Mr Halfon to the school to take part in a question-and-answer session about the work of a politician.

School council co-ordinator Claire

Lamb said: "Visiting the Houses of Parliament was a wonderful way to give children an insight into the way it has worked over the years. The opportunity to see things at first hand has focused the council on its role within the school."

We all love Winnie the Pooh

KIDDI CARU

Children at the Kiln Lane nursery paid an imaginary visit to Hundred Acre Wood to celebrate the birthday of A.A. Milne, the creator of Winnie the Pooh.

Bringing in their favourite Pooh bear toys, they played a variety of games, decorated honey pots and helped Pooh's pal Eeyore to find his tail before sitting down to a special picnic of honey and jam sandwiches.

Nursery assistant Layla Tweedie said the day had been a lot of fun.

"It is the first time we have had a Winnie the Pooh day and it was excellent," she said. "The children had a brilliant time."

"Even after all these years Winnie the Pooh is undoubtedly still everyone's number one bear!"

Pre-school is transformed into a dragons' den

LITTLE EXPLORERS

Staff and children at the pre-school have been celebrating the Chinese New Year.

To commemorate the Year of the Dragon, the youngsters created pictures of the colourful creatures and made Chinese lanterns and fans to decorate their premises in Purford Green, Harlow.

The week of activities will also see them preparing their own Chinese food, practising the art of Chinese writing and trying traditional 'lucky money' rubbing.

Co-manager Iris Vandenberg said yesterday (Wednesday): "The children are all really enjoying the special activities we have put on and are learning a lot about Chinese New Year and the Chinese culture."

"They have done a great job with their dragons and lanterns and have helped to make a beautiful display that has really brightened up the room."

Man turned his home into cannabis factory

A FORMER restaurant owner who turned his hand to cannabis farming after his business ran into financial difficulties has been jailed for 30 months.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told police raided the home of Choi Hang in Westfield, Harlow, and found more than 100 plants growing in two cultivating tents.

More plants were found growing in the garage and garden area.

Father-of-three Hang (31) admitted producing cannabis plants and possessing a quantity of the drug.

Charlotte Davison, prosecuting, told the court police carried out the search on June 19 last year in relation to another matter.

"The defendant admitted having cannabis plants growing upstairs," she said. "In an upstairs bedroom officers found three large cultivation tents, one containing 78 plants and another 35, with a yield of 4.5kilos worth between £25,000-£38,000."

"There were 105 young plants found in the garage and garden area but they had no yield and no value. They also found two small amounts of herbal cannabis for personal use."

Samantha Leigh, representing Hang, said in mitigation he had run a Chinese restaurant in Harlow but got into debt and had lease problems with the premises.

By COURT REPORTER

He also had negative equity on his home and was made bankrupt.

"He was betting, which his wife didn't know, leading to an uncontrollable cycle which got worse," she added.

Jailing Hang, judge Anthony Goldstaub told him: "You had a cannabis factory in your house which had a substantial production; literally hundreds of plants intended to produce a substantial quantity of drugs."

"People who go on to sell them contribute to drug culture and drug use and corrode the moral fabric of this country, leading people onto further drugs and sometimes death."

Hang was also ordered to pay £1,745 in respect of the proceeds from his drug sales under the Proceeds of Crime Act. The money had been seized by police at the time of the raid.

Natalie Hang (25), of the same address, denied allowing premises to be used for cannabis production and was discharged.

Family and friends give Jacko a rock 'n' roll send-off

ALMOST 200 people paid their respects to one of Harlow's best-loved musicians during an unconventional rock 'n' roll wake at The Square.

Friends and family of Dave 'Jacko' Jack (51) - bass player with local bands including Acid Queen, Amino & The Acids, Risque and The Catherine Effect - packed the venue where he had played hundreds of times during a career spanning more than 30 years.

They enjoyed one last drink in his company as his coffin, specially-designed by Masterson's funeral home to resemble a musician's flightcase, was placed on the pool table in the downstairs bar before being taken to Parndon Wood Crematorium.

Following the service, mourners returned to The Square for music provided by Jacko's former bandmates and local acts including Deviant Amps and Repertoire Dogs.

Jacko's sister Maggie Ambrose said: "I was overwhelmed by the sheer number of people who turned up. It showed how many people's lives Dave had touched over the years.

"Nearly everyone there came up to me and said the day had a huge effect on them, that it had made them feel different about how we should celebrate people's lives instead of mourning their death.

"Dave had never conformed and I'm proud that we managed to reflect his alternative take on life at his funeral."

Wildlife havens on water

IT may sound like a story from a science fiction novel but floating super parks could soon provide safe havens for wildlife in major cities like London and New York. Dutch architects Waterstudio have come up with a weird and wonderful design for a multi-tiered structure made up of layered green habitats specifically tailored for different types of flora and fauna.

Called 'sea trees', these floating parks would be moored to riverbeds by cables and could provide valuable living areas for birds, bees, bats and other small animals.

The designers say opportunities to build new city parks are very rare so open spaces such as rivers, seas, lakes and harbours should be used instead.

They propose using offshore technology similar to oil rigs to build the high-rise structures. Waterstudio hopes oil companies might be persuaded to donate them to crowded cities to show their concern for an improved city environment.

Architect Koen Olthuis told reporters: "Underwater, the sea tree provides a habitat for small water creatures or, when the climate allows it, artificial coral reefs."

"The beauty of the design is that it provides a solution and at the same time does not cost expensive space on land, while the effect of the species living in the sea tree will affect a zone of several miles around the moored location."

YATES'S, Market Square, Harlow - Jan Radio Video

By CHRIS MOSS

AN award-winning theatre group is hoping to capitalise on the public's renewed thirst for all things Sherlock Holmes when it brings the sleuth's greatest adventure to life on the Playhouse stage next month.

With two Hollywood blockbusters and a critically-acclaimed BBC television series helping Arthur Conan-Doyle's fictional detective win over a whole new generation of fans, the timing of Global Productions' new stage adaptation of The Hound Of The Baskervilles could hardly be more apposite.

Set on the wild moors of Dartmoor, the spine-chilling tale follows Holmes and sidekick Dr Watson on the trail of a fearsome, spectral hound said to be roaming the countryside surrounding isolated Baskerville Hall.

As Sir Henry Baskerville – the young heir to the country seat – covers at home, the indomitable duo set to work investigating the circumstances of his late father's mysterious death and the legend of a curse said to afflict the entire family.

Director Michael Phillips said even the most ardent of fans would find something new in Global's take on the classic tale.

"We've tinkered with the plot to ramp up the tension and drama a couple of notches, so there'll be a few surprises even for those who know the story well," he said.

"It's got all the ingredients for a thrilling drama – action, adventure, mystery and suspense – and judging by the way rehearsals have gone I'm confident we can put on a great piece of theatre."

IT WENT THAT WAY: Richard Hollis as Sherlock Holmes and Keith Cummings as Dr John Watson

The cast features a number of Global stalwarts, with the ever-impressive Richard Hollis donning the deerstalker as Holmes and Keith Cummings playing his loyal accomplice Dr Watson.

"We've got a talented cast, many of whom will be recognisable to those who've seen our productions in the past and others who are fairly new additions to the group," said Michael. "The relationship between Holmes and Watson is the driving force behind the play, so we're fortunate to have Richard and Keith who work brilliantly together on stage."

The play opens on Friday, February 10 and runs until Sunday, February 12. Performances start at 7.30pm on Friday and Saturday with a 2.30pm Sunday matinee.

Tickets cost £15.50 (£13.50 concessions / £10.50 groups of 10 or more) and can be purchased in advance by calling the box office on (01279) 431945 or online at www.playhouse.com.

The crisis that fuelled acts of violence

A THOUGHT-provoking new drama inspired by the riots that erupted across London and other UK cities last August opens at Moot Hall next week.

An original production penned by young members of am-dram group Moot House Players, Glass Ceiling looks at the difficulties facing youngsters preparing to make the leap into adulthood and how one flashpoint was all that was needed to transform frustration into violence.

Director Dan Powell, who also appears in the play, said: "Everyone's got their own idea of what lay behind the riots.

"We're looking at the situation from the perspective of six young people who are affected by the current economic crisis in their own different way and how actions of everyday life in this climate lead to the rioting in August."

Glass Ceiling opens at Moot Hall in The Stow next Thursday (February 2) and runs until Saturday, February 4. Performances start at 8pm and tickets cost £8 (£6 concessions) from (01279) 639170.

Clooney at his finest in bittersweet drama

THE DESCENDANTS certificate 15, 1h55m

GOOD things come to those who wait. And it's been an agonising seven years since writer-director Alexander Payne ventured to the sun-dappled vineyards of the quirky Oscar-winning comedy Sideways.

He has directed a couple of short films and a TV pilot in the interim, but Payne's distinctive voice has been silent for too long. Thankfully, the acclaimed debut novel of Kauai Hart Hemmings has wooed him back into the director's chair, working from a beautifully crafted script by Nat Faxon and Jim Rash.

Set against the lush backdrop of the Hawaiian islands, The Descendants is a heartbreaking portrait of a family in crisis.

Matthew King (George Clooney) stares forlornly at his adrenaline-junkie wife Liz (Patricia Hastie) as she lies in a vegetative state after a water-skiing accident. Doctors tell him there is no hope of recovery and everyone should say their farewells.

With a heavy heart, Matthew bravely gathers together his 10-year-old daughter Scottie (Amara Miller) and rebellious 17-year-old daughter Alex (Shailene Woodley). The older child stopped talking to her mother shortly before the accident and it transpires that Alex discovered Liz was having an affair with real estate agent Brian Speer (Matthew Lillard).

Matthew is devastated but eventually decides to take a two-day vacation to find Brian and inform his rival of Liz's injury.

The Descendants is drolly narrated by Matthew, who mocks the beauty of the Hawaiian landscape and shares the secrets to perfect parenting.

Characters are delicately sketched and there are lovely scenes between Clooney, Woodley and youngster Miller as they try to make sense of the hand that fate has cruelly dealt them.

The film provides Clooney with the role of his career and as he elegantly navigates choppy emotional waters as a father who must turn off his wife's life support machine while dealing with the grief of his two children.

The scene in which his character prepares to give the final order to doctors, kissing his beloved on the forehead and whispering "Goodbye my love, my pain" as a single tear rolls down his cheek, is sublime.

An Oscar next month would be a fitting reward.

Comic relief comes in part from Nick Krause as Alex's slacker pal Sid, who joins the Kings on their painful odyssey.

However, even he tugs the heartstrings in a remarkable, early morning heart-to-heart with Matthew that reveals the anguish behind his clown's goofy smile.

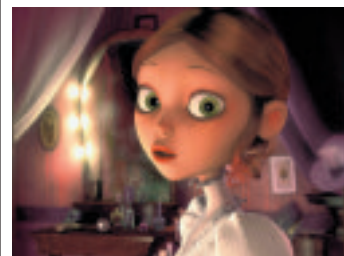

Belly laughs are balanced with tragedy and despair and Payne doesn't strike a single false emotional note, although he does allow sentimentality to creep in for the sombre final five minutes.

A MONSTER IN PARIS certificate U, 1h29m

THE year is 1910 and Paris has been ravaged by floods, leading to the construction of rickety wooden bridges to allow the citizens to traverse the bloated River Seine.

Cinema projectionist Emile (voiced by Jay Harrington) agrees to help truck driver Raoul (Adam Goldberg) make a delivery to a gargantuan greenhouse owned by a scientist.

Raoul forces his way inside and begins fooling around with test tubes of strange liquid which results in a massive explosion producing a cloud of gases and causing a flea to mutate to hulking proportions.

The insect bounds across the city until it finds an unlikely ally and musical companion in cabaret chanteuse Lucille (Vanessa Paradis) at the L'Oiseau Rare nightclub. Together, Lucille and the heavily disguised insect she calls Franc (Sean Lennon) become the talk of the French capital with their infectious renditions.

When bumbling police commissioner Maynott (Danny Huston), who hopes to win Lucille's affections, discovers his rival is a monstrous insect, he decides to secure his re-election by slaying the beast.

THE GREY certificate 15, 1h57m

SHARP-shooter Ottaway (Liam Neeson) is employed by a refinery in Alaska to shoot the wolves that sometimes target the roughnecks as they carry out their exhausting work.

After a gruelling five-week shift, Ottaway boards the plane home, only for a storm to wrench the craft apart and deposit the widower and seven other men – Burke (Nonso Anozie), Diaz (Frank Grillo), Flannery (Joe Anderson), Henrick (Dallas Roberts), Hernandez (Ben Bray), Lewenden (James Badge Dale) and Talget (Dermot Mulroney) – into the Alaskan tundra.

As they huddle together for warmth the local wildlife quickly encroaches on the crash site, attacking one of the men. With the howls of wolves chilling the survivors even more than the icy blasts of wind, Ottaway tries to galvanise his co-workers into action.

A Show Fee Is Payable By All Successful Applicants

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
You have spent a lot of this year thinking about your role in life, and how to better your lot. But this is a week when there is a lot to be gained from taking soundings from friends, or associates and also granting yourself some play time. So, if you have been working flat-out, why not kick back and relax somewhat? Call for more astral advice...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23
If you're not in a relationship, don't be surprised if in the weeks to come someone from your past enters your thoughts or turns up in person. Involved? Don't let old hurts fester. If you've been focused on keeping the peace, this is a good time to clear the air. Your quick wit can help you to make your point. Call me for your love scope in full...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
You can surf this week's New Moon to better your professional prospects. Yet with the Sun squaring Jupiter in your sign, there is a big difference between being positive and go-getting, and trying rather too hard. Try to avoid the pitfalls the latter can bring. The trick will be in being yourself, and nothing more. Call me for your in-depth forecast...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
You may have felt that you have been on something of a roll, however, one big push or interest can lose its sparkle. Don't worry, this may only be temporary, but if you find yourself retreating, and having some 'you time', this can prove to be very cathartic and help you to reconsider before you launch forwards again. Call for more astral advice...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
You can find yourself wanting to create more variety. Nothing new there then, but after a period which has seemed to have been focused on resources, property and close interactions with others, your more freedom loving credentials have to find an outlet. Yet don't be too quick to follow one new philosophy. Call for more news and advice...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
Mars has been giving you great support but now it goes retrograde. You may do a double take around career matters, or politics can creep in at work. Be careful which battles you pick. Yet, your mind steps up several gears and can see you buzzing. Competitions, quizzes, crosswords and puzzles can see you shine. Call me for more...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
Business and pleasure may not fit together so neatly this week. Even the most upbeat of plans needs to be assessed with a hard headedness. If you have been planning to splash out on a new vehicle, you may also have a change of mind, or find that others try to persuade you to do something different. Call your prediction line for more advice...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
You have been a lot more risk taking, even if for you this has been small steps rather than giant leaps. Yet by applying your natural appreciation of consolidating right across your affairs, and valuing what you have got, this can give you all sorts of new perspectives. You may still sneak in the odd luxury! Call for more news and advice...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
You can find yourself engaged in a lot more discussions with other people and at a practical level these can be linked to finances. However, you have entered a time of new beginnings in all sorts of relationships, and if you are single, the last phase of this month, can see a new admirer enter your sphere. Call for your love scope in full...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
This can be a week of new beginnings for you, and in a number of ways. Venus eased your journey into the New Year and continues to help with your finances. But now the key is about being creative and true to your unique spirit. You may decide to give yourself a makeover, start a blog, or raise your profile. Call for your financial scope...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
Mars goes into reversal, and this and the Aquarius New Moon reminds you of that side of you which gains satisfaction from doing a job well, or helping others. If personal considerations have dominated of late, now you can get back into your normal groove. Getting fitter? Good for you, but don't overdo it. Call now for more news and advice...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
A relationship may have become strained, or be about to do so. This may see you want to distance yourself from the source of your unhappiness, though it will be important not to isolate yourself too much. Perhaps this tie was more of a fair-weather friendship than you realized, or you're ripe to start afresh. Call me for your love scope in full...

The Advertising Myth

It would not be unreasonable to assume that as a property comes on the market, the instructed estate agent will post the property details on various property portals and wait for the enquiries to roll in.

However, this approach is somewhat simplistic! We take a much more strategic and proactive approach to handling new buyer enquiries. There is a fallacy surrounding adverts in that many people think that a property sells as a direct result of the publication of its corresponding advertisement. This is simply not true in most cases.

In fact, the overwhelming majority of buyers who enquire about a specific property do not go on to buy it, but buy something else instead. This is because only limited information can be conveyed in an advertisement, such as price, location, accommodation and condition. Yet the decision to buy is usually much more complex, and is something that cannot adequately be assimilated until the property is actually visited.

So whilst it is important to choose an agent that advertises extensively (eg, we feature our clients' properties on a number of portals including our website & Rightmove.co.uk), it is more important to choose an agent who knows what to do with an ad enquiry than simply putting the buyer on a mailing list!

A good agent will use good ads to attract buyers, and then use their skill, training and judgement to help the buyer identify the right property which in all probability will not turn out to be the one about which they enquired. This effective method is one of the reasons why we enjoy such an excellent ratio of new applicants to sales agreed, which is of course to our clients' substantial advantage.

Why not join them? Please feel free to call 01279 444988 now to arrange a confidential appraisal so that we might provide you with highly relevant strategic marketing proposal.

Scrap

End of the road
for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

BERR

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

Club records fall on great day

NEW club records and personal bests (PBs) were set by six Harlow Running Club members at the Folksworth 15-mile road race in Cambridgeshire.

Steve Murtagh, in his debut at the distance, was seventh overall from 440 finishers and first veteran 45 in a fantastic time of one hour, 29 mins 3 secs.

Murtagh's time on Sunday also cut five minutes off the club's veteran 45 record which was set in 1997.

He was followed home by John Tennant in 102nd place (first veteran 60 finisher) in 1:48.56.

This also improved the club Vet 60 record by more than eight minutes.

John Bull was 113th and clocked a PB of 1:49.57.

Graham Saville came 245th and improved his PB to 2:06.26 and Susan Dewen came 398th and cut her PB to 2:30.45.

Alison Bull was 399th as she clocked a PB of 2:31.20.

At the Benfleet 15-mile multi-terrain race Paul Jeffrey, in his debut at this distance, came 38th from 446 finishers.

Jeffrey clocked a superb time of 1:49.56 and was followed home by another debutant 15-miler, Andy Bradley.

He was 134th in the 2:06.56 and Sean Flynn also registered a PB of 2:07.28 in coming 141st.

Meanwhile, Vince Hayward registered a PB of 1:15.52 in the Fred Hughes 10-mile road race in St Albans.

He was 208th from 700 finishers.

Dionne Jones came 1,508th from 7,500 finishers at the Santa Pola Half Marathon in Spain.

He said: "After the Olympics I need to get on with my life and get a job. Amateur sport in this country is badly funded."

Meanwhile, Harlow-based judo player Faith Pitman gained a bronze in the women's U-63kg category, losing only one fight.

Pitman claimed a win over Charlotte Potter through an ippon, one win by a wazaari throw [against eventual gold medallist Sarah Clark] and two penalty victories.

Harlow judo player Ronnie Plumb finished seventh in the 100kg and over category, winning one fight over Matthew Bryce by an ippon.

ON THE CHARGE: A Harlow player surges through against Waltham Forest on Saturday

(HSP0799229)

Forest chop down profligate Harlow

A LACK of a ruthless edge in front of goal was critical as Harlow slumped to a home defeat at the hands of Waltham Forest's second team.

The hosts were unable to penetrate at key times, but Forest were the stronger side at the start on Saturday.

Harlow absorbed a lot of pressure in the first quarter of an hour before their

Harlow 1, Waltham Forest II 3
East Men's Hockey League, division four south east

Walthamstow-based opponents went ahead in the 15th minute when a shot was fired in from just inside the D.

The hosts fought back and equalised just before the break when Andy Boughtwood netted from a short corner.

The play was even after the break, before the visitors equalised midway through the second half.

Harlow did not leave enough players back when they had a short corner and a counter-attack from Forest saw them score to take a 2-1 lead.

The home side threw players forward in search of an equaliser, but it was Forest who scored on the hour mark from a counter-attack.

Harlow captain Luke Krzoska said: "It was a fair result. We should have taken the opportunities that we had in the first half."

Harlow are fourth in the table.

HARLOW: N. Boughtwood, Castle, Hagger, Krzoska, Grace, Symonds, Cholerton, Kirk, Munro, A. Boughtwood, Mace.

Dan's spot on once again!

Maldon & Tiptree Utd 0, Harlow Tn 1

Ryman League, division one north

By ALAN SCOTT

ANYTHING West Ham's Mark Noble can, Hawks skipper Danny Brown can do better!

Noble has scored six times from the spot for Sam Allardyce's men this term – but left-back Brown notched up his SEVENTH successful penalty to ensure three more crucial points for Danny Chapman's Harlow Town at Maldon & Tiptree United on Saturday.

Harlow had huffed and puffed in awful conditions and looked like they could drop two more points until being awarded their penalty just 11 minutes from time.

Brown, who also scored from the spot in Harlow's previous game, smashed home high into the net, giving Maldon keeper Scott Stevens no chance.

The former Leyton Orient and Barnet player now has 10 goals this term.

People say strikers win you matches, but his nerveless heroics in front of goal have boosted Harlow's points tally dramatically.

It means the Hawks are sitting pretty in fourth with a game in hand on the top three.

John Martin (30) made his debut for the Hawks and the former Leyton Orient and Stevenage player looks a fantastic acquisition in the midfield engine room.

Harlow dominated the first half but were unable to conjure the goal they deserved.

Piers Wixon and ex-Maldon winger Michael Deane both went close.

Maldon were better after the break and Hawks keeper Bert Bossu superbly tipped over a shot from Jack Stevenson on 48 minutes.

Just past the hour mark Brown's header produced a flying save from Stevens.

The visitors' pressure started to tell and just minutes before the penalty, Wixon's shot was superbly blocked by Stevens. From the ensuing scramble, Maldon right-back Billy Coyne acrobatically cleared with an overhead kick from just outside his goal-line.

Then on 79 minutes Deane was upended by Coyne and Harlow were awarded a penalty, which Brown gratefully dispatched to ease the tension.

Harlow could have added a second but both Deane and James Peagram were denied by some frantic defending on 85 minutes.

Chapman said: "The conditions were horrible. It was always going to be decided by the odd goal. It took an 80th-minute penalty to get three points but to me that shows character and togetherness. All in all I'm really pleased."

"Not a lot of teams will come here and win games. I don't look at their [Maldon's] league position. It's false. [The new manager] has done a great job."

"I thought Tom Bruno and Jack Haverson were excellent."

Trio selected for All-England Champs

THREE Harlow students have been selected to represent Essex in the All-England Schools Cross Country Championships at Ilton in Somerset on March 17.

Burnt Mill pupils Perry Rowan (15) and Amelia Barrett (15) plus Mark Hall student Canaan Solomon (13) have been picked after gaining top six spots at the Essex Schools Cross Country Championships at Basildon on Saturday.

The trio will also represent Essex in the South of England Inter Counties Schools Championship at Basildon on February 4.

Mark Hall pupil Alicia McArdell (14) and Stewards student Rosie Poole (12) will also represent Essex in this competition after coming in the top 16 at Basildon five days ago.

In the Essex Schools Championships junior girls (U-15) 3.4km race, Alicia was 7th in 14 mins 20 secs, closely followed by Rosie in 9th (14:31).

Mark Hall pupil Jodi Ratcliff (13) finished 19th in 15:04 and she was followed home by Amy Edwards (13), a Passmores School pupil, in 52nd spot (17:43) and Megan Price (St Marks) in 54th (17:54).

Canaan was second in the junior boys (U-15) 4.6km race in 16:16, just four seconds behind Essex U-15 boys champion George Elliott.

Burnt Mill's Rian McKnight (13) was 25th in 18:33.

In the inter girls (U-17) 4.6km race, Amelia was 4th in 18:01.

She was followed home by Isobel Moss (16), a Passmores School pupil, in 21:46 and Hope Hawkins (16), from Mark Hall School, in 25:29.

In the inter boys (U-17) 5.6km race, Perry was 5th in 21:55.

In an open meeting at the Lee Valley, St Marks pupil Naomi Harryman equalled her personal best (PB) for the high jump of 1.45m.

This put her second in the U-15 girls event.

In an ISA district schools cross country event at St Nicholas School in Harlow on Monday, Harlow AC member Katie Templeton-Knight (13) broke the school record over 3km, easily winning the girls event and placing third overall (10:13).

Ladies lose proud unbeaten home run

Harlow 1, Old de Ferrians 2

Essex Women's Hockey League, premier division

THE proud unbeaten home record of Harlow was ended as they lost to 10-player Old De Ferrians.

Second-placed Harlow were unable to make the extra player count as they slipped to their second defeat of the season as their opponents climbed to third in the table.

The hosts started brightly, but failed to convert scoring chances in the first 20 minutes against a team who defended well and whose keeper was outstanding.

Harlow sat back and lost their verve, allowing the visitors into the game.

The hosts fell behind on 28 minutes when a visitors' player's shot flew into the right corner of the home net.

Four minutes later, the visitors' keeper pulled off a brilliant save to stop Carolyn Welsford from scoring, but Harlow equalised on 33 minutes.

Michelle Stanesby was well positioned to turn in a shot from Welsford.

Harlow struggled against the wind and were lacklustre in the second half with their midfield and forwards failing to complete passes on numerous occasions.

A reverse-stick tackle by Harlow's player of the match Petra Trimble foiled a goalscoring attempt by the visitors on 55 minutes.

However, the South Woodham Ferrers-based team grabbed the winner seven minutes later. A darting run by two central midfielders meant the Harlow defence was outnumbered, and a reverse stick strike at the top of the D put the visitors 2-1 up.

Hawks eye a double as leaders come to town

DANNY Chapman is refusing to put any extra pressure on his players as Harlow Town entertain Ryman division one north leaders Leiston at Barrows Farm this Saturday.

By ALAN SCOTT
Sports Editor
alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Chapman "It's a big game, but every game is big. All we can do is keep winning, and let everything else take care of itself."

Harlow have won three successive league games since they last tasted defeat, a 2-0 loss at Potters Bar Town on January 2.

"We have got to put a run together. We want to put the cat among the pigeons. Everyone is looking over their shoulder," warned Chapman.

The Suffolk side will contain in-form striker Rhys Henry, who started the season at Barrows Farm, but left after losing his spot in the team.

"We have got to go and win. We are just looking to win another football match," said Chapman.

Harlow will also be without defender Lamar Lemonious (leg injury).

With few away fans expected, Harlow will be hoping for a large turn-out from the home fans to boost their quest for promotion.

● THERE will be free entry for children (per paying adult) for this Saturday's game with free coaching on the pitch between noon and 1pm.

A taste of the Orient as Martin signs

HAWKS' new signing John Martin will certainly bring back memories for many of the Leyton Orient fans who live in the town.

The signing of Martin (30), set to make his home debut against Ryman division one north leaders Leiston this Saturday, will certainly have surprised a few people.

The central midfielder, released by Chelmsford City at the end of last season, rejected moves to Blue Square Bet South side Boreham Wood and Ryman premier division strugglers Lewes to join Harlow.

His signing is a feather in the cap for Harlow boss Danny Chapman.

The pair – both black cab drivers – have been friends for nearly 20 years since coming through the Orient ranks and playing in the same youth side at 11-years-old. Stepney-born Martin, who lives in Loughton, made 93 appearances for the O's between 1997 and 2003, scoring five goals and was a popular figure with the fans at Brisbane Road.

He played more than 60 games for Grays Athletic until 2007.

Martin then switched to Stevenage Borough and enjoyed two seasons there until 2009, playing 44 games.

His career has also included short spells at Farnborough, AFC Hornchurch and Ebbsfleet.

A delighted Chapman said: "It's a fantastic signing. He has not played for a little while, but he's the fittest person I have ever known. "His Chelmsford contract was not renewed and he had spoken to a few clubs. We're really happy. There will be a few clubs kicking themselves that we have got him."

Martin has known Hawks co-owner Tom Cunningham for many years as Cunningham's agency, Platinum Sports Management, has represented the player during his career.

Highlighting what he will bring to the team, Chapman said: "Technically he is spot on. He will get the ball and pass it. He has fitness and enthusiasm. He is top drawer. He gives us something different."

The Hawks boss needed cover in midfield due to the injury to Getro Kilapi (knee) and three-game band for Leon Lalite. "To be able to bring him straight in is brilliant. Boreham Wood and Lewes wanted him, but they were not right for him," he added.

Cousins hits back with British gold

PETER Cousins gave himself a massive pre-Olympics boost when he won his category in the Senior British Judo Closed Championships at Sheffield.

The 30-year-old judo player, from Hookfield in Harlow, who suffered heartache with an early exit in the Beijing Olympics in 2008, won six pool contests to triumph in the under-101kg category.

This triumph means a difficult time for Cousins ends on a high note.

Reconstructive knee surgery and a shoulder injury has left him on the sidelines for much of the last two years.

Jubilant to be back on top form, Cousins said: "I was nervous before, but as soon as I started I got into it and my nerves went. After all the injuries I was very pleased to win and I enjoyed myself. I enjoyed the fighting.

"It was good to be fighting on the mat again. It was also brilliant to have my twin brother Thomas with me, it was like we were on the mat again."

Peter beat Conor Murphy (Bath) by an ippon as a result of a hold and then defeated Adam Hall (Newcastle) by a wazaari.

Next, he overcame John McPetrich with another ippon hold, followed by a wazaari victory over Joshua Butler (Camberley).

Cousins then defeated Philip Awiti-Alcaraz (Enfield) by an ippon throw and then clinched a decisive victory over James Austin (Edinburgh) as a result of a penalty.

Cousins said: "It was good to beat James Austin. He's a leading contender [to be selected for the Great Britain Olympics 2012 team] and I beat him quite comfortably.

"It was good to keep up the record of winning a closed event I have gone into since I was 13."

There are other tournaments to go before GB selection for the 2012 Olympics takes place and Cousins is competing in an international event in Belgium this weekend.

He said: "The Olympics will unite the country and I do not want to be watching an event on TV which is a 30 minutes' drive away.

"I want to get to the Olympics. It would be a heartbreak not to be involved. I want to train as hard as I can, but I do not want to just think about results because this hinders you and you want to be creative."

Cousins said he was affected by
